St. Michael's Church

The beautiful Church of St. Michael (Belvarosi Szent Mihály Templom) on Váci Street was built in the mid 1700's and boasts one of the most spectacular main altars in Budapest. In addition to its stunning interior St. Michael's also provides great acoustics that will allow all to enjoy the rich sounds of a lone soloist or a full orchestra.

Gabóra Gyula

Accomplished violinist and concertmaster, born in 1978, had already won prizes in the Paganini International Violin Competition and the Joachim International Chamber Music Competition by the age of 26. In the USA he has played as a soloist in the UCLA Symphony Orchestra and the Paliti Symphony Orchestra, Dallas. Chamber music is very important in his career and he plays in the Budapest Chamber Symphony (Weiner-Szász Chamber Symphony) established in 1992 to cultivate the best Hungarian tradition in making chamber music. Gyula Gabóra has also played in the Hungarian Chamber Orchestra, Hungarian Radio Orchestra and the German Chamber Philharmony. In the Chamber Orchestra of Europe he plays First Violin. His major recordings: Mendelssohn violin Concerto – Budapest, 1997 and Piazzola Four Seasons – Los Angeles, 2002. Seven famous teachers have helped shape his musical professionalism. They include Prof. Boris Kuschnir (Vienna), Prof. Eduard Schmieder (USA – SMU University, Dallas), Józsefné Szász (Budapest) and Miklós Szenthelyi of Ferenc Liszt Academy of Music where Gyula Gabóra graduated in 2005
